Dear Josh:

Roger, Mike and I have finished writing a general microbiology textbook, and are now rounding up illustrations. Could you help by furnishing prints showing the replica plating process - either the ones from your original article, or any others you may have? I am including a diagram of the method, so what we need is a set of photos showing an original and one or two replicated plates.

By the way, when and where will your penicillin story appear? Sounds terrific!

Best Regards,

Yours sincerely,

Edward A. Adelberg
